

There are many ways parents can support what their child is doing in school. Here are a few:

- ❖ Make reading an everyday habit at home
- ❖ Communicate with your child's teacher
- ❖ Monitor and assist with homework assignments
- ❖ Ask for regular monitoring reports
- ❖ Share your child's successes
- ❖ Learn more about the curriculums and interventions being used in your child's school
- ❖ Attend parent/teacher conferences and other school meetings about your child

What is RtI?

RtI is the practice of providing high-quality instruction and intervention matched to student need, monitoring progress frequently to make decisions about change in instruction and goals, and applying the child's response data to important educational decisions.

(NASDE, 2005)

How Will This Help My Child?

No more waiting! The school staff focuses on making changes NOW before the student falls further behind. They know that something will work and will keep intervening until they find it.

What does the RtI process look like?

The RtI process typically has three tiers. Each tier provides differing levels of support.

- ❖ In Tier I, all students receive high quality curriculum and instruction in the regular education classroom. The teacher assists all learners.
- ❖ In Tier II, the school provides interventions to students who need more support than they are receiving from the general curriculum.
- ❖ In Tier III, students are given individualized instruction.
